in Two Acts

by ex-pat American playwright
Jens Porup

Directed by Jens Porup
With Adrian Mulraney and Georgina Capper

A dying man, wants a child.
His pregnant partner? Booked for an abortion.

Confront your hidden fears.

"Highly provocative...raises numerous ethical and philosophical questions."
--ANPC reviewer

When? 7pm on December the 20th of December.

Where? The Store Room Theatre.
Crn Scotchmer & St Georges Rd, North Fitzroy.
Entrance located at rear of Hotel, next to bottle shop.

Why? The Reading Room is for actors, writers or anyone who wants to read, listen and discuss. It is for new writers to share their work, and performers to practice their craft and directors to trial their ideas. We read traditional work, new work and for both theatre and television. As an audience you will experience a night of talent and creativity--a night where anything could happen.

Cost? Free for INSTORAGE subscribers or a gold coin donation.

If you would like to register your interest as an actor, director, writer or audience member, please contact: Julie Eckersley Ph: 0402 277 647
